My Breath.

Shortness of Breath
Is One of the Commonest Signs of Heart Disease.

Notwithstanding what many physicians say, heart disease can be cured.
Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure has permanently restored to health many thousands who had found no relief in the medicine (allopathic or homoeopathic) of regular practicing physicians.
It has proved itself unique in the history of medicine, by being so uniformly successful in curing these diseases.

Nearly always one of the first signs of trouble is shortness of breath. Whenever it comes as a result of walking or running up stairs, or of other exertion, if the heart is unable to meet this extra demand upon its pumping power, there is something wrong with it.
The very best thing you can do, is to take Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure. It will go to the foundation of the trouble, and make a permanent cure by strengthening and renewing the nerves.
I know that Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure is a great remedy. For a number of years I suffered from shortness of breath, smothering spells, and pains in my left side. For months at a time I would be unable to lie on my left side, and if I lay flat on my back would nearly suffocate. A friend advised using Dr.
Miles' New Heart Cure, which I did with good results. I began to improve at once, and after taking several bottles of the Heart Cure the pains in my side and other symptoms vanished. I am now entirely well. All those dreadful smothering spells are a thing of the past.—J. P. DRAKE, Middletown, O.
If the first bottle does not help, you the druggist will refund your money.

An Indisputable SAFE INVESTMENT

The material progress which our country is now, and has been making for the past decade of years, naturally brings to the surface numerous schemes of the "get-rich-quick" character that benefit only the promoters of such, at the expense of innocent investors.
In this age of genuine prosperity with every legitimate business booming, wages high, work in abundance, giving employment to all willing to earn, and products of the farm bringing best prices; there is little or no excuse for one not to join the army of money-makers.

The first and safest investment to make is to become a reader of the CINCINNATI ENQUIRER, the greatest and most reliable newspaper in the United States. With the facts, truth and information gleaned from its columns, one may become well qualified to reach out and secure his share of profit that always accrues from investments intelligently made.

The WEEKLY ENQUIRER costs but one dollar for one year's term. The SUNDAY ENQUIRER costs you two dollars for a year. The DAILY ENQUIRER (7 issues a week) you get for fourteen dollars a year.
Without the aid of a first-class newspaper, success in any enterprise becomes problematical. For ten cents you can secure a sample copy of each,
DAILY, SUNDAY AND WEEKLY EN-QUIRER. Address,
Enquirer Company,
Cincinnati, Ohio.

TO ADVERTISERS.

We will accept advertisements on a guaranty that our paper has more than twice the circulation in Breathitt County of any paper published. Our paper goes to every post office in Perry County and almost every one in Lee, Magonia, Owsley, Wolfe and Knott Counties.

If you want to reach the mountain trade, try an ad in the BREATH-ITT COUNTY NEWS.

Decision Affirmed.

The Court of Appeals last week affirmed the judgment of the Perry Circuit Court in a case of D.
Y. Cumbas and others against W.
C. Eversole, Judge. The whole court considered the case and Judge Settle delivered the opinion.

The action was by appellant's survivors on the bonds of Sheriff E. H. Cornett, to require the ap-pellee, the County Judge, to appoint a man of their selection to collect the State and county revenue for the year 1905, upon the resignation of the Sheriff. The Judge declined to do so, and appointed one S. B. Holliday, who executed a new bond. Appellants instituted mandamus proceedings to require the appointment of one Arch Cornett. The lower court sustained a demurrer to the petition.
The court in affirming says the survivors could only nominate in the event of the death of the Sheriff.

PAINT ECONOMY.

You might as well make your paint money go as far as possible.
Use Green Seal Liquid Paint and you won't complain of the distance.
For sale by Jackson Drug Co.

Lexington Meets the State Fair.

The State Fair will be a success.
It will be inaugurated at Lexington September 15th, and will continue till the 23rd. It will be the best fair ever held in Kentucky.
It will mean much for Lexington, more for the Blue Grass, even more for Kentucky. The location of the fair at Lexington marks the beginning of a series of annual fairs which will be of incalculable benefit to the most important interests in Kentucky—the agricultural and live stock interests.
The permanency of the fair as an annual feature in the social and business life of Kentucky depends upon the success of the attempt made this year. That will be, that must be a success. After it is shown that it is a success it will be settled that the State Fair will be held every year at Lexington—it will cease being a traveling show going from one city to another and will, as it should, find a permanent home in Lexington, the center of the agricultural and livestock interests of the State, the Queen of the Blue Grass.

THE MAKER'S GUARANTEE

Is back of every gallon of Green Seal Liquid Paint. Doesn't make the paint any better, but makes you safe in using it. For sale by M. S. Crain.

Rheumatic Pains Quickly Relieved.

The excruciating pains characteristic of rheumatism and sciatica are quickly relieved by applying Chamberlain's Pain Balm. The great pain relieving power of the balm has been the surprise and delight of thousands of sufferers. The quick relief from pain which it affords is alone worth many times its cost. For sale by Jackson Drug Co.

NOTICE.

Is hereby given that the partnership heretofore existing between W. H. Blanton and Grant Holliday, under the firm name of W. H. Blanton & Co., has been dissolved by mutual agreement of the parties, W. H.
Blanton to continue the business.
All accounts owing said firm are to be paid to W. H. Blanton.
Given under our hands this 6th day of April, 1905.

W. H. BLANTON.

The Right Name is DeWitt.

DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve cures soothes and heals cuts, burns, lacerations, bruises, piles and all skin diseases.
K. E. Zieckel, Adolph, W. Va. says:
"My little daughter had white swellings so bad that place after place of her worked out of her leg. DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve cured her." It is the most wonderful healing salve in the world. Beware of counterfeits. Sold by M. S. Crain.

CORRESPONDENCE. ROOSEVELT.

John Deaton, of Bush Branch, was a visitor of J. T. Deaton Sunday.

John Deaton, son of Uncle George Deaton, visited Jackson on very urgent business the first of the week.

The Baptist church house on the head of Cane creek was burned down on Sunday night. It was a new house constructed of logs, seating capacity about 300.

"Red John" White returned from the Eastern Kentucky Lunatic Asylum last Saturday, only to find his wife had died while away and his family scattered. His recollection is fine. Says he was treated nice while away.

George W. Noble returned home from the big log job of The Marietta Lumber Co. last Saturday and reports the work is progressing nicely, the banks rafting as many as five rafts some weeks.
This will soon heap up a good many rafts and also a good name for George as a logger.

Buck Aikman, from the big camps of the Marietta Lumber Company, was shot by Bruce Duff, of this place, last Sunday. The weapon used by Duff was a double barreled shot gun. Aikman is seriously wounded but thought not to be fatal. When asked regarding the trouble Aikman remarked:
"I was not doing anything to Duff; only shooting at him."

IN MEMORIAM.

In memory of Martin Henson, son of Allen Henson, who was killed on April 24th 1905.

The wealth of spring had come.
The flowers were shedding forth their fragrance. The birds thrilled their melodious hymns and amid this beautiful surrounding our friend breathed his last. This day will always remain sacred to us, a day for memory and tears.
We look upon it with a solemn thought, well knowing time will record our deed. He sleeps in his native home, sweet sleep of rest. In his sorrow and long suffering his sweet patience was greater than all. Gratitude is the first-est flower that sheds its perfume in the heart. We have done our last deed for him, taken our last look and breathed our last goodbye. He is now at rest with Him Who is more beautiful than the rose. The body of flesh is free from pain. Side by side until the great Judgment morning he and father will remain.

The leaves of the oak and willow
shall fade;
He scattered around together be laid;
The young and old the low and high Shall number to dust and together
shall lie.

We are the same our fathers have been

We see the same signs our fathers
have seen

We drink from the same stream and view the same sun

And run the same race our fathers have run.

FRIEND, MOTHER, AND BROTHER.

TORRENT.

Mrs. J. B. Cason went to Clay
City Monday on business, returning same day.

Misses Martha Bush, Edna Cable and Mattie Adams, of Zach-ariah, were visiting Mrs. J. B. Ca-son and Mrs. W. A. Jones at Ridgewood Junction Tuesday.

The new passenger depot and freight ware room is nearly ready for occupancy. Preparations are being made to put down concrete which will be placed around the depot.

C. S. Bush will undertake the management of the L. Park Hotel this season, and as he has had the management during the winter seasons for the past eight years, he will, no doubt, make a success of the business.

Married, at the home of her sister, Mrs. Eliza Wilson, near Fin-castle, Miss Jane Shoemaker and Mr. Price Whisman. Price is an L. & E. employee here and his wife is a young lady well known and liked by all our people.

Married, at the Palace Hotel,
Cincinnati, Ohio, on the 15th inst.,
Miss Lucinda Meadows and Mr.
Clarence S. Bush, both of this place. Mr. Bush has been postmaster and manager of Day & McLin's business here for ten years, and his wife, who is a daughter of John Meadows, of Oklahoma, was the landlady of Ninaweb Inn, at Beattyville, last year. Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Sears, guests of L. Park Hotel, accompanied them to Cincinnati.

WHAT DID THE PAINTER SAY

When you told him you were going to use Green Seal Liquid Paint? He knew that he wouldn't have the job of painting your house again for a long time. But you knew a good thing so you got Green Seal Liquid Paint, didn't you know? It's on sale now at
M. S. Crain's.

About Rheumatism.

There are few diseases that inflict more torture than rheumatism and there is probably no disease for which such a varied and useless lot of remedies have been suggested. To say that it can be cured is, therefore, a bold statement to make, but Chamberlain's Pain Balm, which enjoys an extensive sale, has met with great success in the treatment of this disease. One application of Pain Balm will relieve the pain, and hundreds of sufferers have testified to permanent cures by its use. Why suffer when Pain Balm affords such quick relief and costs but a trifle? For sale by Jackson Drug Co.

Knocking the Nerve Power.

"I wonder why the car doesn't start!"
exclaimed an impatient passenger.
"There are not enough people on board yet to make the car go," replied another who understood the situation.

On a Plate.

"He'd like to take your photograph," said. Really, you're sweet enough to eat! She said, and that's why you want to put me on a plate.—Illustrated this.

There is a selfishness even in gratitude when it is too profuse.—Cumberland.

Furn Weak Digestion.

No medicine can replace food but Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver
Tablets will help you digest your food.
It is not the quantity of food taken that gives strength and vigor to the system, but the amount digested and assimilated. If troubled with a weak digestion, don't fail to give these Tablets a trial. Thousands have been benefited by their use. They only cost a quarter for sale by The Jackson Drug Co.

Offering No Challenges.

"Do you think that the world owes you a living?"
"No," answered Menodoring Mike.
"The man that goes around claiming makes himself unpopular. I'm satisfied to get my living whether it's owing to me or not."—Washington Star.

His Short-hand.

Employer to new clerk: "You don't seem to keep pace with my dictation.
Why don't you write short-hand?"
The clerk told me that you knew shorthand. Clerk: "So I do, but it takes me longer than ordinary writing."

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy

The Best and Most Popular.
"Mothers buy it for their children, railroad men buy it for severe coughs and elderly people buy it for a gripe."
—Mr. Moore Bros., Eldon, Iowa. "We sell more of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy than any other kind. It seems to have taken the lead over several other good brands." There is no question but that this medicine is the best that can be procured for coughs and colds, whether it be a child or an adult that is afflicted. It always cures and cures quickly. Sold by The Jackson Drug Co.

The Term "Bully."

The term "bully" in the eyes of Shakespeare had quite a different meaning from that which it has at present, being an expression of endearment and good fellowship. Some suppose that the word, when it is used in approval, is derived from the Dutch word for German battle, which stands for the English lover. The harsher use of the word is, however, to be traced to below: the root of bull, with a significance of noisy blustering.

Full of Trouble-Meaning

are these lines from J. H. Simms, of Casey, Ia. Think what might have resulted from his terrible cough if he had not taken the medicine about which he writes: "I had a fearful cough, that disturbed my night's rest I tried everything, but nothing would relieve it, until I took Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, which completely cured me." Instantly relieves and permanently cures all throat and lung disease es; pneumonia grip and lung disease.
At Jackson Drug Co.; guaranteed; 50c. and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

A Tried and True Friend.

One Minute Cough Cure contains not an atom of any harmful drug, and it has been curing Coughs, Colds, Croup and Whooping Cough so long that it has proven itself to be a tried and true friend to the many who use it. Mrs. Gertrude E. Fenner, Marion, Ind., says: "Coughing and straining so weakened me that I ran down in weight from 145 to 92 pounds. After trying a number of remedies to no avail, One Minute Cough Cure entirely cured me." Sold by M. S. Crain.

Indicative.

When a girl acts as if she were tied to the end of a comet and tries to look as if she were only buttoning her gloves, most likely she is just become engaged.—New York Press.

Forget About Your Stomach.

If your digestion is bad the vital organs of your body are not fed and nourished as they should be. They grow weak and invite disease. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure digests what you eat, cures indigestion and all stomach troubles. You forget you have a stomach from the very day you begin taking it.
This is because it gets a rest—recuperates and gradually grows so strong and thorough that it troubles you no more.
E. T. Babcock, Anierist, Minn., says:
"I have taken a great many remedies for indigestion but have found nothing equal to Kodol Dyspepsia Cure." Kodol digests what you eat, cures Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Sour Stomach, Belching, Heartburn and all Stomach Troubles. Its preparation is the result of many years of research. Sold by M.
S. Crain.

Satisfying.

"Do I spin, Charlie?" asked the rich girl.
"A little, Maude," he said tenderly.
"but who wouldn't with your eyes?
If mine were as beautiful as yours I'd be trying to look into them myself."

Plans to Get Rich

Henry Combs (col.), cut Jane Collins, his paramour, in the side, inflicting a serious wound, at their home on the hill last Sunday. Combs attempted to escape but was pursued by Policeman James Stidham. Combs refused to submit to arrest on the call of the policeman, and being about 75 yards away, he fired at him, the ball striking Combs in the thigh, fracturing the bone. He is now in jail in a serious condition.

Joseph L. Landrum Killed by a Train at Lula, Miss.

Joseph L. Landrum was hit by a train last Friday night near Lula, Mississippi, which fractured his collar bone and his cheek bones and mashed his left foot so badly that it had to be amputated. He was removed to the hospital at Memphis, Tenn., where he died Monday morning about 9 o'clock. He was born and raised in this county and was the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Landrum, and was about 32 years old. He held a position with the Kentucky Lumber & Veneering Company at Lubbock for about two years and had worked himself up to the position of lumber inspector. He resigned that place last winter to accept a similar position at Lula, Mississippi, where he could get better wages and immediately left for that point. His remains were buried there Tuesday, under the auspices of the Odd Fellows' Lodge, of which he was a member, as it was impossible to have them brought home on account of the state of the weather.

Liquor Election on May 30.
An election has been called for May 30th to take the sense of the voters of the town of Jackson whether spirituous, vinous or malt liquors shall be sold therein.

FIXING THINGS UP.

For Spring may be accomplished with greater ease and better results, by using Green Seal Liquid Paint than by any other means. For sale by M. S. Crain.

Easter Services.

With delightful weather and fine audiences for a basis, good Easter exercises were presented at Quicksand and Hounshell, last Sunday, under the management of Rev. Edwin T. Preston.

A Jaunt to "Raven Roost."

On last Saturday, April 22, several of the faculty of Lees Institute accepted an invitation from Rev. Edwin T. Preston to visit "Raven Roost," his home on the mountains east of Jackson. The party included Misses Louise and Amy Caldwell, Sue E. Reese and Prof. J. E. Lukens. The day was an ideal one for mountain climbing. Spring was fair and fine and the party came back tired but joyful after their outing.

Commencement Exercises.

The commencement exercises of Lees Collegiate Institute will be held May 6th to 9th, inclusive. On Saturday evening will be the grade entertainment. The baccalaureate sermon, Sunday morning, will be preached by the Rev. F. R. Beattie D. D., of Louisville. Monday evening will be devoted to music and Tuesday evening the commencement address will be delivered by Rev. F. W. Hinit, D. D., President of Central University. All friends are cordially invited.

Disciple Rally.

At the court house Sunday at 11 a. m., 3 p. m. and 7:30 p. m. Evangelist Dodge will preach upon the subjects of "The Rock," "Unity in Christ" and "Bible Study." Quite a number will be added together in the "Body of Christ" and some will be "Baptized into Christ" immediately after the 3 to 4 o'clock service. Mr. Dodge is very confident about erecting a building and establishing a strong spiritual membership. His plea is for the unity of faith in Christ Jesus; to obey the divine commands and build Christian character according to the Christian system. Emphasis is placed upon loyalty to the word and obedience to conscientious conviction. All are invited to the services.

Wonderful Meeting.

Undoubtedly the most successful revival meeting ever held in Jackson has just come to a close. From the first service Sunday morning, April 15th, to the last, a sunrise prayer service at the train, Thursday, April 27, the interest was unabated. Rev. Walter Holcomb, who conducted the meeting, is a fearless, earnest, intensely practical preacher. While he boldly denounces sin in high and low, he well manifests a deep and tender interest in the sinner. It was truly beautiful to see the pastors and people of all the churches work and pray together for the glory of God in saving our town. Hundreds of Christians have been revived and have consecrated themselves to Christ. Perhaps fifty or more have accepted Christ and will unite with the various churches. May God bless Mr. Holcomb for coming to Jackson.

HOUSE OWNERS.

Should protect their property from poor paint; one way of saying that they should specify Green Seal Liquid Paint in their contracts. For sale by M. S. Crain.

THE DEATH ROLL.

Mart Henson died at his home near Roosevelt last Sunday night of consumption. He was about 24 years old.

Jonathan Quicksand died near Hazel Green last Sunday. He was a member of the constitutional convention from this district that formed the present constitution.

Mrs. T. J. Daniels, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. McGuire, of this place, died at her home at West Liberty last Monday morning. She leaves a husband and one child.

Mrs. Malinda Raleigh, wife of Samuel Raleigh, of Roosevelt, died last Friday after a short illness. She was a daughter of Joseph Deaton, of Smith's Branch. She leaves a husband and seven children.

King Alfonso and American Girls.

The Rev. Thomas Van Ness, who has traveled much in Spain and who has a rich fund of stories of that country, tells this anecdote of King Alfonso:

A certain member of the Spanish court was urging upon his majesty the advisability of his marriage with a certain princess when the young king interrupted him. "No," he said, "I shall marry an American—first, because the Americans are all rich, and that will please you; second, because they are all republicans, and that will please many of my people; third, because they are all beautiful, and that will please me."—Boston Record.

A Cheap Diet.

Soda water is now prescribed for hunger, especially for the abnormal hunger produced by disease. The seat of hunger is found in the solar plexus. By the use of water charged with carbonic acid gas the branches of the solar plexus distributed through the mucous membrane of the stomach are influenced in such a way that the abnormal irritation of the plexus, which is the foundation for the ravenous hunger often present in diabetes and certain forms of indigestion, may be greatly mitigated if not wholly appeased.

Kept Them in Stock.

Senator Dolliver was making a speech during the campaign in West Virginia near the place where he was born and reared. He waxed sentimental. "Dear old 'oginty!" he said. "I love every foot of it. I know it as well as I do my adopted state. Why, right over there is a farm where I have spent many happy hours. I gathered and carried away more than fifty bushels of chestnuts that grew on that farm." "Yes," came from a seat in the rear, "and you have been peddling them out ever since."

The Kiss Microbe.

A French physician has shocked his colleagues by insisting that kissing instead of being unhealthful is a most wholesome practice. Kisses carry microbes, this authority agrees, but so much the better. He insists that the interchange of certain bacilli is a laudable and healthful practice. In kissing it is not so much the bad microbes as the beneficent ones that are exchanged. These good bacteria are not only favorable but essential to digestion.

Don't Borrow Trouble.

It's a bad habit to borrow anything, but the worst thing you can possibly borrow is trouble. When sick, sore, heavy, weary and worn out by the pains and poisons of dyspepsia, biliousness, Bright's disease, and similar internal disorders, don't sit down and brood over your symptoms, but fly for relief to Electric Bitters. ### THE HARGIS TRIAL

Moses Feltner was put on the stand Wednesday afternoon and occupied all the afternoon and the entire day Thursday, giving his testimony, which was pretty much the same as given in his famous deposition given at Winchester a few months ago.

On Friday morning the first witness was Noah J. Peters. He said he was standing about ten or twelve feet from the front door of the court house when the firing began, and immediately stepped into the corridor of the court house to get out of range of the shots, as he could not tell from just what point they were being fired. Saw the people at the Cardwell corner scatter, and believed that some one was being shot at. Saw no one when he first entered the court house door, but about a minute after the firing ceased he saw Curt Jett come down the rear steps and cross the street toward the Hargis store. Witness looked in the direction of the store and saw Jim Hargis and Ed Callahan at the window with guns. Said he saw King Ford standing just behind them, but could not tell whether Ford had a gun. Said he heard Hargis say something to Jett, and the latter recrossed to the court house, after going as far as the store door. Hargis told Jett to go back and guard the court house door, and that Jett replied that the door did not need guarding. Also saw Britton and Spicer near the door when Jett returned. Saw Britton and Elbert Hargis near the store just before the shooting, and also saw Hargis and Callahan talking to them.

The next witness was J. B. Little, who had known Cockrill during his lifetime, and also knew Jim Hargis and the men jointly indicted with him. Was talking to Cockrill just about five minutes before the shooting in front of the court house. Said King Ford was also talking to Cockrill and left him and entered the Hargis store. Witness said he saw Elbert Hargis leave the store and go down the street just before the shooting. While witness was talking to Cockrill, Bill Britton came out of the store and walked past Cockrill and gave him an unfriendly look. Said that Britton looked as though he had been drinking and that Cockrill seemed to be very nervous as Britton passed by and looked at him. Britton entered the postoffice and asked for Hargis Brothers' mail and returned to the store with some papers in his hand. Britton did not speak as he passed, but gave a sharp look at Cockrill, and the latter turned and followed Britton with his eyes until after Britton had left the postoffice and returned to the store. Witness said Cockrill told him he had some business to transact with Attorney John Patrick and they separated. Cockrill started up the stairway to Patrick's office and Little went down the street to Davis' store on the corner just below. Just as Little entered the store he heard shots and stepped out and saw Cockrill stagger into an alley. Little ran to where Cockrill had fallen and was followed by Will Jett and Elbert Hargis. He heard Hargis ask C. N. Bowling if Cockrill was dead and being answered in the affirmative he said to Jett, "Let's go." Witness said Elbert Hargis seemed to be very nervous.

In answer to a question Little said he and Jim Hargis had been on friendly terms for twelve or thirteen years prior to the trial of Curtis Jett at Cynthiana for the murder of Cockrill. Said he assisted in the arrest of Tom White and acted as special elisor with his uncle, C. J. Little, during the trials of Jett and White for the murder of J. B. Mareum. Was at Cynthiana as a Commonwealth witness during the trial of Curt Jett for the murder of Cockrill and after that trial returned to Jackson. Little said that on the day the soldiers were recalled from Jackson by the Governor he had business down the road, and boarded the train and went to one of the stations near Jackson. On the same train were Jim Hargis and Doug Hays, both of whom got off the train at Oakdale. Witness said on the return trip that afternoon Hargis and Hays got on the train at Oakdale and entered the rear coach and took a seat almost directly opposite him. Hargis carried a shot gun and seemed to have been drinking hard, and was more under the influence of liquor than witness had ever seen him before. Witness supposed they had been hunting and asked Hays what luck they had. At this juncture Hargis began cursing Little violently and threatened to shoot him for testifying against his relatives. Little said he did not respond to anything he said, as he believed his time had about come and knew that to say anything at that time meant certain death. This abuse continued for a distance of several miles, until the train reached Jackson. As witness started to leave the train he was followed by them and just as he started to leave the platform he was given a hard kick by Hargis. Little said it was very dark when the train reached Jackson and that he at once went to the hotel, where he told of this attempt of violence on the part of Hargis.

S. S. Taulbee, County Clerk of Breathitt county, was the first witness at the afternoon session. Mr. Taulbee brought some of the records of his office, showing that Curt Jett, Bill Britton and Jesse Spicer had been appointed deputies under Sheriff Callahan.

The witness turned to the records and read to the jury where Jim Hargis as, county judge, had entered orders making the three men deputies in the Sheriff's office, one of the orders in which Britton was reappointed being made after the death of Cockrill. This part of the testimony, however, was not allowed by the court, but it had gone to the jury before the objection was made.

Following the introduction of the records, Taulbee gave some of the most sensational evidence against Hargis that has yet been introduced at the trial. Taulbee said that sometime in May or June, before the killing of Cockrill in July, he heard Jim Hargis say he would engage the best lawyer in the State and stand by the men who would kill Cockrill. Witness said this remark was made in the presence of a number of people, but said he paid very little attention to it at that time. Said that County Attorney W. H. Blanton and perhaps Judge J. J. C. Bach were present when the remark was made. Said it was after the killing of Dr. Cox and Ben Hargis and was made during a general conversation by the people about the killings in Breathitt county. Taulbee said there was considerable excitement at the time in Jackson. Said that Tom Cockrill was in jail and it was after the application for bail had been made by Tom Cockrill.

At this juncture the Commonwealth asked Clerk Taulbee to read the order of Hargis, as county judge, made on July 14, 1932, one week before the death of Cockrill, in which he refused to accept the bond offered by Cockrill, and declared the office of town marshal vacant. The defense objected to this evidence, but after a long wrangle and an examination of the record it withdrew the objection, provided the court would permit the witness to read both records on the same page. This was agreed to, and the witness read the orders dismissing Curt Jett as a deputy sheriff and the order declaring the marshalship of Jackson vacant. Witness was not allowed to read the order entered in June before, where Cockrill had executed bond, and was not permitted to show how much property was owned by the people who were on the bond of Jim Cockrill.

Logan Gose, who was employed by Elbert Hargis at the farm at the time of the Cockrill shooting, was called. Said he was at work sunning hay that morning with Bill Britton, Abe McIntosh and Will Griffith. Saw Elbert Hargis for the first time that day about dinner time. Witness and the other hands went to the house for dinner about 11:30 o'clock, and said he heard Elbert Hargis say to Britton that he had work for him in town that afternoon, and after dinner Britton changed his clothes and started out toward town with Elbert Hargis, while witness and the other hands went back to the field to work. That night he heard of the shooting of Cockrill.

Witness was cross-examined by Attorney Hunt. Said he was sure that he had heard Elbert Hargis tell Britton he had work for him in town that afternoon. This witness was introduced at the Britton trial and told exactly the same story, and was not shaken on cross-examination.

Walker J. Cole, the special bailiff who arrested Anse White in Breathitt county and brought him into court, after the first bailiff had failed to find him, testified. Cole is a merchant in Jackson and was en route to the depot when the shooting of Cockrill took place. Went on to the depot and when he returned to town, in about twenty minutes, he saw Jett, Britton and Elbert Hargis at the court house.

Marvin W. Carter, a barber at Jackson at the time Cockrill was shot, was the next witness. Was en route to his shop near the post-office when the shooting occurred. Saw Cockrill and Bruce Little talking before the shooting began and also saw Cockrill talking to Stuart Hager just before the shooting. Witness saw Cockrill run down the street with blood gushing from his throat, and heard him say twice, "Boys, the court house window."

Charles Terry was recalled by the Commonwealth to prove that Cockrill had told him of the alleged plot to kill him. Said Cockrill stated to him some time before he was shot that Mose Feltner had told him (Cockrill) that the Hargises and Callahan had formed a plot to kill him.

Henry B. Noble was put on the stand Saturday morning and told of the office on the second floor of the Hargis store and said he had frequently seen several guns and pistols in the office. Said he had seen Jett, Britton, Ashberry Spicer, Jesse Spicer, John Almer, John Smith, Mose Feltner and Tom White in the store and office before the killing.

Henry Freeman was next introduced, who said he was in Jackson the day Cockrill was shot. Was driving a wagon at the time and had passed the court house some time before and saw four men in a wagon on the second floor and saw them to be the Hargis brothers and Callahan. Was not near the court house when the shots were fired and did not go back to find out who had been shot. Said his relations with the Hargises were friendly and he had slept at the home of Jim Hargis and had taken breakfast with his family since swearing to the affidavit charging him with murder. Said he had slept with Elbert Hargis at the home of Jim Hargis and had also slept with him in the office at the store. Freeman said he had never talked to Jim Hargis about the affidavit. Was not allowed to say that Edwards had prepared the affidavit and asked him to sign it.

Charles Strother, book-keeper in the Winchester bank, and Joseph S. Head, cashier of the Jackson Deposit Bank, were the next witnesses and testified concerning the money transactions between Jim Hargis and Felix Feltner.

W. N. Cope said he heard Jim Hargis say during the argument between Hargis and Cockrill that he was going to defend himself and defied Cockrill to touch him. Neither of the Cockrill boys had drawn any weapons until Callahan first put his hand to his hip pocket.

C. N. Bowling said shortly after the trouble between Cockrill and Hargis when the latter represented the attempt of the former to arrest him, witness heard Hargis say to Callahan: "The low-down dirty dog had the nerve to walk in front of me after trying to assassinate me." Witness knew Hargis was referring to Cockrill, as he heard his name called by Hargis. He had just seen Cockrill pass down the street with a young lady.

Sherman Cope, the next witness, knew Mose Feltner and was at the home of Jim Hargis in 1934 when French and Callahan were there. Went to see Mose Feltner in Leslie county and get him to meet Hargis at the home of Callahan's brother-in-law. Feltner refused to meet and treat with him. Cope could not remember whether he took this message to Hargis. Said Hargis was away on his return. The memory of the witness was faulty, and it was impossible for him to remember anything of importance. Said he spent several nights at the home of Jim Hargis when Feltner was there. Cope had been in Jackson the morning of the shooting, but had gone to Caney City and was not present when the shooting occurred.

On Monday morning Felix Feltner was introduced, who cor

C. KELMAN, JACKSON BARGAIN HOUSE.

robustated Moses Feltner in many important parts of his testimony. Jeff Smith, the last witness for the Commonwealth, testified that while he was one of Callahan's deputies before Cockrill was assassinated he was in the office of Jim Hargis one day when the latter said to him:

"Jeff, Jim Cockrill will have to be killed."

Witness said he replied: "Jim, how's that?"

Hargis then said: "Well, Jim Cockrill will have to be killed, for if he is not he will kill us."

Witness answered: "I don't want to be in this and I will have nothing to do with it."

Hargis then said, declared the witness, "Well, if you don't want to do it, I'll get George Smith and Curt Jett and they will fix it."

Tuesday morning Jim Hargis went on the stand and denied every material allegation of the witnesses for the Commonwealth. Denied that Moses Feltner was ever in his office, or that he ever wanted James Cockrill killed. He was subjected to a rigid cross-examination by Col. Bronston and was on the stand all of Tuesday and Wednesday, and had not concluded his testimony on Thursday morning at our last reports.

EBEN HOLDEN

By
IRVING BACHELLER

Copyright, 1905, by Lathrop Publishing Company

Struggled in between my two companions I felt reasonably secure and soon fell asleep. The sun, streaming in

I had a mighty fear of her, at the open door, roused me in the morning. At the beginning of each day of our journey I woke to find Uncle Eb cooking at the fire. He was lying beside me this morning, his eyes open.

"Fraid I'm hard sick," he said as I kissed him.

"What's the matter?" I inquired. He struggled to a sitting posture, growling so it went to my heart.

"Theumatiz," he answered presently. He got to his feet little by little, and every move he made gave him great pain.

With one hand on his cane and the other on my shoulder he made his way slowly to the broken gate. Even now I can see clearly the fair prospect of that high place—a valley reaching to distant hills and a river winding through it glimmering in the sunlight; a long wooded ledge breaking into naked, grassy slopes on one side of the valley and on the other a deep forest rolling to the far horizon; between them big patches of yellow grain and white buckwheat and green pasture land and greener meadows and the straight road, with white houses on either side of it, glorious in a double fringe of goldenrod and purple aster and yellow John's-wort and the deep blue of the Jacob's ladder.

"Looks a good deal like the promised land," said Uncle Eb. "Hain't got much further 't' go."

He sat on the rotting threshold, while I pulled some of the weeds in fear of the boards and brought knifedolls out of the house and built a fire. While we were eating I told Uncle Eb of the man I had seen in the night.

"Guess you was dreamin'," he said, and while I stood firm for the reality of that I had seen, it held our thought only for a brief moment. My companion was unable to walk that day, so we lay by in the shelter of the old house, eating as little of our scanty store as we could do with. I went to a spring near by for water and picked a good mess of blackberries, that I hid away until supper time so as to surprise Uncle Eb. A longer day than that we spent in the old house after our coming I have never known.

I made the room a bit tidier and gathered more grass for bedding. Uncle Eb felt better as the day grew warm. I had a busy time of it that morning bustling his back in the splinters and rubbing until my small arms ached.

I have heard him tell often how vigorously I worked that day and how I would say, "I'll take care of you, Uncle Eb—won't I, Uncle Eb?" as my little hands flew with redoubled energy on his bare skin. That finished, we lay down sleeping until the sun was low, when I made ready the supper that took the last of everything we had to eat.

Uncle Eb was more like himself that evening and, sitting up in the corner as the darkness came, told me stories.

It was very dark as he finished, and I was feeling a bit sleepy when I heard the boards creak above our heads. Uncle Eb raised himself and lay faced upon his elbow listening. In a few moments we heard a sound as of some one coming softly down the ladder at the other end of the room. It was so dark I could see nothing.

"That's there?" Uncle Eb demanded. "Don't print that gun at me," somebody whispered. "This is my home, and I warn ye 't' leave it or I'll do ye harm."

CHAPTER V. HERE I shall quote you again from the diary of Uncle Eb: "It was so dark I couldn't see a hair before me. 'Don't print yer gun at me,' the man whispered. 'I thought 'twas funny I could see me when I couldn't see him. Said 'twas his home an' we'd better leave. 'Tol' him I was sick (rhumatiz) an' couldn't stir. Said he was sorry an' come over near us. 'Tol' him I was an of man gold west with a small boy. Stopped in the rain. Got sick. Out of purvisions. 'Don't ready 't' die. 'Tol' him know what 't' do. Started 't' strike a match, an' the man said: 'Don't make no light, cos I don't want to hev ye see my face. Never let nobody see my face.' Said he never went out 'less 'twas a dark night until folks was a-bed. Said we looked like good folks. Said me a little cos we couldn't see a thing. Also he said: 'Don't be 'fraid of me. Do what I can fer ye.'"

I remember the man crossed the creaking floor and sat down near us after he had parleyed with Uncle Eb awhile in whispers. Young as I was, I keep a vivid impression of that night, and, aided by the diary of Uncle Eb, I have made a record of what was said that is in the main accurate.

"Do you know where you are?" he inquired presently, whispering as he had done before.

"I've no idee," said Uncle Eb. "Well, down the hill is Paradise valley, in the township of Faraway," he continued. "It's the end of Paradise road n' a purty country. Been settled a long time, an' the farms are big an' prosperous—kind of a land of plenty. That big house at the foot of the hill is Dave Brower's. He's the richest man in the valley."

"How do you happen 't' be livin' here, if ye don't like 't' live in the valley?"

"'Trazz," said he. "'Fraid o' everybody, an' everybody's 'fraid of me. Lived a good long time in this way. Winters I go into the big woods. Not a camp in a big cave, an' when I'm there I see a little daylight. There in the clouds I'm only up in the night time. That's how I've come to see so well in the dark. It's give me cat's eyes."

"Don't ye get homesick?" Uncle Eb asked.

"Awful—sometimes," he answered with a sad sigh, "an' it seems good 't' talk with somebody besides myself. I get enough to eat generally. There are deer in the woods an' coves in the fields, ye know, an' potatoes an' corn an' berries an' apples an' all that kind o' things. Then I've got my traps in the woods, where I catch partridges an' squirrels an' coons an' all the meat I need. I've got a place in the thick timber 't' do my cookin'—all I want 't' do—in the middle of the night. Sometimes I come here an' spend a day in the garret if I'm caught in a storm or if I happen to stay a little too late in the valley, time in a great while I meet a man somewhere in the open, but he always gets away quick as he can, 'tween this I'm a ghost—dunno what I think o' them."

Our host went on talking as if he were about to tell the secrets of his heart to some creature of his own kind. I have often wondered at his frankness, but there was a fatherly tenderness, I remember, in the voice of Uncle Eb, and I judge it tempered his confidence. Probably the love of companionship can never be so dead in a man but that the value of kindness may call it back to life again.

"I'll bring you a little 't' eat before mornin'," he said presently as he rose to go. "Let me feel o' your hand, mister."

Uncle Eb gave him his hand and thanked him.

"Feels good. First I've hed hold of in a long time," he whispered. "What's the day of the month?"

"The 25th."

"I must remember. Where did you come from?"

Uncle Eb told him, briefly, the story of our going west.

"'Tness you'd never do me no harm, would ye?" the man asked.

"Not a hair," Uncle Eb answered.

Then he bade me goodby, crossed the creaking floor and went away in the darkness.

"Singular character," Uncle Eb muttered.

I was getting drowsy, and that was the last I heard. In the morning we found a small pile of milk sitting near us, a roasted partridge, two fried fish and some boiled potatoes. It was more than enough to carry us through the day, with a fair allowance for Fred. Uncle Eb was a bit better, but very lame at that, and kept to his bed the greater part of the day. The time went slowly with me, I remember. Uncle Eb was not cheerful and told me but one story, and that had no life in it. At dusk he let me go out in the road to play awhile with Fred and called us in shortly. I went to bed in a rather unhappy frame of mind. The dog roused me by barking in the middle of the night, and I heard again the familiar whisper of the stranger. "Sh-h-h! Be still, dog," he whispered. But I was up to my ears in sleep and went under shortly, so I have no knowledge of what passed that night. Uncle Eb told in his diary that he had a talk with him lasting more than an hour, but goes no further and never seemed willing to talk much about that interview or others that followed it.

I only know the man had brought more milk and fish and fowl for us. We stayed another day in the old house, that went like the last, and the night man came again to see Uncle Eb. The next morning my companion was able to walk more freely, but Fred and I had to stop and wait for him very often going down the big hill.

Uncle Eb told me when we were leaving the money old house for good and had the dog hitched with all our traps in the wagon. It was a bright morning, and the sunlight glimmered on the dew in the broad valley. The men were just coming from breakfast when we turned in at David Brower's. A barefooted little girl a bit older than I, with red cheeks and blue eyes and long curly hair that shone like gold in the sunlight, came running out to meet us and led me up to the doorestep, highly amused at the sight of Fred and the wagon. I regarded her with curiosity and suspicion at first, while Uncle Eb was talking with the men. I shall never forget that moment when David Brower came and lifted me by the shoulders high above his head and shook me up to test my mettle. He then led me into the house, where his wife was working.

"What do you think of this small bit of a boy?" he asked.

She had already knelt on the floor and put her arms about my neck and kissed me.

"An' in home," said he. "Come all the way from Vermont with an of man. They're worn out, both of 'em. Guess we'd better take 'em in awhile."

"Oh, yes, mother—please, mother," put in the little girl who was smiling my hand. "He can sleep with me, mother. Please let him stay."

She knelt beside me and put her arms round my little shoulders and drew me to her breast and spoke to me very tenderly.

"Please let him stay," the girl pleaded again.

"David," said the woman, "I couldn't turn the little thing away. Won't ye hand me those cookies?"

And so our life began in Paradise valley. Ten months later I was playing my first game of "I spy" with little Hope Brower among the fragrant stalks of wheat in the field back of the garden.
